Saddle Log Program

The IPAA Saddle Log Program operates on an honor system, with each rider logging the time spent riding. The horse(s) ridden do not need to be owned by the person submitting this form, but only hours spent riding IPAA registered horses will be counted for the IPAA Saddle Log Program. Awards will be given within different age groups. Any kind of riding counts: trail riding, competition, lessons, and exercising.

Instructions:

1. Fill out this initial registration form and submit it to IPAA along with the appropriate fee.
2. Submit a completed saddle log when the first riding level is reached or one year from the date of applicant's signature on this application. If at the end of one year the applicant has not reached the first hour level, no award will be issued by IPAA and no log needs to be submitted; the log and the saddle log program fees/membership can be maintained for multiple years so that IPAA members can continue to work towards the first award level.
